“What” is it exactly? It’s a Nutwhat that’s what! A whole new brand of confectionery treats hand-crafted with premium ingredients. Those buttery Nutwhat nuggets are delightfully quirky in appearance yet magnificently addictive in flavor.

In her Mother’s kitchen during early childhood, founder Lisa Rast discovered the secret joys of invention and creativity of both sweet and savory treats. More recently, Lisa performed a ‘crossover’ by making the switch from teaching competitive figure skating to landing perfectly- back in the kitchen. Married to a self proclaimed ‘techie’ with a strong sense of business, their love of intention, straight forward approach and creative inspiration provide a unique and unexpected platform for a whole new brand of confectionery treats.
